

SMART LIVING

Of food and friendship: Memories of two Bali restaurants

Renew relationships with your loved ones and closest contacts at Bali’s unique restaurants.

by Sebastian Partogi

We know we all need other people to survive. Nurturing relationships with members of your inner circle — family, friends, coworkers — is a lifetime’s work. Way too often, unfortunately, these relationships turn sour and/or stale because we find it just too difficult to sustain them. Especially when conflicts and differences emerge. We might not always be able to be vulnerable and honest, even around our closest confidants.

This is where setting helps break down the barriers a little bit. Many people — at least myself and my friends — have found that spending time together in a slightly different setting can help us rekindle our long-term relationships. Bali has at least two restaurants that can achieve this for you, thanks to their unique settings. My friends and I happened to visit these establishments a while back and they left us with unforgettable memories.

Photos Shutterstock

MEMORIES OF TWO BALI RESTAURANTS, page 8

PARTNERSHIP

Smart Living Sales & Marketing
Email: adv.smartliving@thejakartapost.com
Phone: 021 - 530 0476/78

SOCIAL MEDIA

@jpsmartliving
 JP Smart Living
 @jpsmartliving

SMART LIVING TEAM

Guarantor: Maggie Tiojakin | Head Desk: Pandaya | Editors: Sudibyo M. Wiradji, Veeramalla Anjaiah | Writers: Benget Besalicto ST, Istu Septania, Musthofid, Sebastian Partogi | Designers: Budhi Button, Darma Ahmadi, Finta Arfinia, Swi Handono
Photographer: Arief Suhardiman | Desk Support: Endang Sriwardani, Meity W. Tambunan | Brand and Partnerships: Aries Saputra, Sanrais Ramadhan B. | Email: jpsmartliving@thejakartapost.com